

June 2008

Science Park companies go ‘Football Crazy’

Companies based on the Science Park enjoyed their own Euro2008 competition with a difference in June, with a ‘Human Table Football’ challenge.

The competition involved a giant inflatable version of the popular pub football game.

Companies entered teams of eight who were all strapped to giant poles. Contestants then had to run sideways in unison to get to the ball in order to shoot or pass.

After the knockout rounds the grand final was between Amey and the ‘Science Park All Stars’ with Amey claiming the victory prize.

A BBQ was provided throughout the afternoon and companies also participated in a variety of games including penalty shoot out, Giant Jenga and Giant chess & draughts.

Science Park services manager Robert Horsfield commented: “Today has been a great success and its good to see so many people from the Park either actively participating, or simply coming down to cheer on their colleagues and of course enjoy the food and drink as well!”

ENDS

Photo caption: “Giant Human Table Football” at the Science Park.

Photo caption: Robert Horsfield, Park Services Manager with winners of the 'Human Table Football' final Amey.